Our Approach to Childhood Vaccinations

Recent updates to national immunization recommendations have prompted questions from families. After careful review, our practice will continue to recommend and follow the long-established childhood immunization schedule that has been used for many years. This schedule is supported by extensive scientific research and ongoing expert review, and it is endorsed by the American Academy of Pediatrics.

We believe this approach provides the best protection for infants and children and reflects our commitment to safe, effective, evidence-based care. We will continue to recommend and administer vaccines according to this schedule.

Our goal is to provide the best possible protection against serious and preventable diseases. We encourage families to speak with us if they have questions or would like more information about our vaccine recommendations.
